

Online-Training - Interkulturelles Training (Deutsch - Indisch) - Advanced (INT-CULT-ADV)

Short Description

The course "Working with Indian Colleagues - German-Indian Intercultural Training (advanced)" aims to promote collaboration and understanding between Indian and German colleagues. It delves into the differences and similarities between the two cultures, explains scientific backgrounds, and encourages active participation.

Objectives

The training aims to lead to a better understanding of Indian culture and its working methods. Collaboration is promoted, and misunderstandings can be avoided.

This is an advanced course with a duration of half a day. Additionally, a "basic" course is offered, which provides important insights in one session. Participants are welcome to start directly with the "advanced" course. The two courses are not sequential but complementary.

Target Group

Siemens internal participants

Content

- Deepening of the topics from the "basic" course
- Expansion of theoretical backgrounds (e.g., Hofstede, Transactional Analysis)
- Detailed backgrounds on culture, working methods, etc.
- Tips & tricks, practical advice
- Active participation

Prerequisites

no special requirements are necessary
