

Environmental - Water: Chapter 2 (SILPP-PD19)

Conteúdo

In this second part we will focus on the instrumentation requirements for water networks and country-specific certifications. We will also look at the overall product portfolio available for the water industry and typical applications including key benefits and general specifications. Next, we will undertake a detailed review of different products within the portfolio and which water network applications they fit into. The last section will highlight the sales tools available for the water business, which can be used to support industry and product promotion.
