

Learning Journey

Explore the flexible learning format

SIEMENS

This offering features a flexible learning approach that seamlessly integrates into participants' daily work schedules. Learning takes place in groups led by a learning consultant in a virtual classroom, fostering open discussion and providing immediate support when needed. The combination of diverse didactic methods enhances learning effectiveness, while self-learning modules can be revisited at any time to reinforce understanding. Knowledge transfer occurs through practical, work-related tasks, ensuring that newly acquired skills are directly applicable to daily operations.
